

e-Discovery Document Conversion Services

Experienced partner to supplement your litigation support team

QUALITY | EXPERIENCE | EFFECTIVE

C Digital provide solutions that cover document management, workflow and document conversion services. Engage us to be part of your team in assisting your clients to be e-Discovery ready.

Our document processing centre is able to handle the conversion of files to the requirements of the Supreme and Federal Courts.

Our facility provides capabilities that include:

- Bar coding of documents with customised and predefined Document Id's
- Data coding and indexing to the requirements of the Supreme court
- High speed and high quality document scanning
- Optical character recognition (OCR) of images to allow quicker identification of critical document contents
- Use of our DocPoint document management system as a secure repository while researching the case
- Data hosting so that your client and their legal team access the same repository

C Digital ensures that rigorous quality control standards are met on every conversion service project.

Docpoint and bureau operations are part of a range of products and services from C Digital. For your e-Discovery project we also provide project management services for:

- Computer forensics - Investigation and data analytics
- Electronic email discovery – PST conversion, NSF and Mac
